

Standardise software, accelerate learning

Standardise your software across every interactive whiteboard - regardless of manufacturer.

Interactive whiteboards: classroom gems that have turned hyperactivity into interactivity, and blackboards into the blueprint for the future. But, chances are, you've more than one brand besides Hitachi in your school. This can mean that the three Rs might not be the only learning your pupils have to do. You and they might have to master each board's different software. For pupils moving between classrooms, this could hold back learning.

And watch your pupil's learning accelerate.

Keep your whiteboards, keep winning their minds

Fortunately, Chameleon blends into any whiteboard environment. You can run it on all the whiteboards for which you have a licence whether they're Hitachi boards or not.

This means that, if your school has more than one brand of whiteboard, your pupils' learning could accelerate. It means you can hold on to your ICT budget, by keeping all your existing systems. And it means being able to upgrade at will.

Chameleon the choice for all your whiteboard systems

With Chameleon, you can use a variety of pens, papers, backgrounds and effects, switch effortlessly from pen to mouse, and customise your toolbar from a wide selection.

You can add notes, move and resize objects, scroll, and create perfect geometry from clumsy handdrawings, and beautiful text from illegible scrawl. You can save time with drag-and-drop applications, use hide-and-reveal questions and save favourites for tried-and-tested lessons.

There's spotlighting to magnify a specific area, and cursor-hovering to reveal an icon's function. There's audio-visual recording of live sessions. And there's even a keyboard shortcut for creating lessons away from the board.
